"Black and Blue" is deserved one of the best known collaborations by Fats Waller and Andy Razaf, written around the same time as another of their big hits, "Ain't Misbehavin'," for the musical Connie's Hot Chocolates. Unlike the latter song, "Black and Blue" is a serious ballad about the suffering of Negroes in the 1920s.

The "thin blue line" is a term that typically refers to the concept of the police as the line which keeps society from descending into violent chaos. The "blue" in "thin blue line" refers to the blue color of the uniforms of many police departments. The phrase originated as an allusion to the British infantry regiment The Thin Red Line during the Crimean War in 1854, wherein the regiment of ...
